INDEX

TO THE SIXTIETH VOLUME.

A.

About Great Griefs as a Medicine to Less. A Cue from Shakspeare. By Francis Jacox, 388

About taking the Tide at the Flood. A Cue from Shakspeare. By Francis Jacox, 502

About Things being to Us as we think Them. A Cue from Shakspeare. By Francis Jacox, 172

Academy's Exhibition, The Royal. By T. Frederick Wedmore, 28

Aide-de-Camp, Journal of an, 394, 522, 646

Ainsworth, W. Harrison. The Constable de Bourbon, by. Books VI. and VII., 91. Book VIII. 203. Old Court. A Novel, by, 331, 441, 551

Almanacks, The French, for 1867, 597

An Up-country Fair in Behar, India, 514

Aristocracy, French, at Home, 82

B.

Ballybrena, The Heiresses of. A Yachtsman's Tale. By the Author of "The Six Yachtsmen," 111

Beaver, Barrington. A Rough Tramp over the Rocky Mountains, by, 476, 622

Beejapore, A Visit to the Ruins of, 381

Behar, India, An Up-country Fair in, 514

Bishop, Charlemagne and the. By William Jones, 521

Bismark's Couch, The Ghosts round. By Mrs. Bushby, 370

Briars and Thorns. By Blanche Marryat. Chap. XVII. Aground. — XVIII. Ahimé. — XIX. Distress, 33. Part II. — Chap. I. David Chetwynde. — II. Art-Students. — III. Disappointment, 149. IV. An accidental Meeting. — V. An embarrassing Position. — VI. New Friends, 297. VII. A Tour-manqué. —VIII. The Review, 423. IX. News at Last.—X. A cruel Surprise. XI. Retribution. — XII. Retribution continued, 529.—XIII. Hard to Bear.—XIV. Vain Hopes.—XV. Leave-taking, 632

Bushby, Mrs. The Ghosts round Bismark's Couch, by, 370

C.

Canoe Voyage down the Fraser to Cariboo. By Barrington Beaver, 476, 622

Canute the Dane. By William Jones, 180

Charlemagne and the Bishop. By William Jones, 521

Constable, The, de Bourbon. By W. Harrison Ainsworth. Book VI. Charles V.—Chap. I. How François I. was taken to Madrid, and confined in a Moorish Castle.—II. How the Treaty of Madrid was Signed. Book VII. The Sack of Rome.—Chap. I. How Von Frundsberg once more entered Italy with his Lanzknechts.—II. How Bourbon commenced his March to Rome.—III. How Bourbon reached the Apennines.—IV. The Prince of Orange, 91. Book VII. Chap. V. How Lannoy vainly attempted to arrest Bourbon's March.—VI. Von Frundsberg's last Carouse.—VII. How Bourbon and his Bands arrived before Rome.—VIII. Benvenuto Cellini.—IX. The first Shot from the Walls.—X. In Saint Peter's, 203

Cues from Shakspeare. By Francis Jacox. Desired Boon, Denied Bane, 57. About Things being to Us as we think Them, 172. Little Talbot the Great, 287. About Great Griefs as a Medicine to Less, 388. About taking the Tide at the Flood, 502

D.

Deeds, The Lost. A Tradition of Jutland. By William Jones, 65

Desired Boon, Denied Bane. A Cue from Shakspeare. By Francis Jacox, 57

E.

Estelle, 249

Exhibition, The Royal Academy's. By T. Frederick Wedmore, 28

F.

Fair, The, Unknown. A Yachting Tale of August, 1866. Chap. I. A Vision of Loveliness seen by a Yachtsman, and the Effect it produced on him.—II. Describes the Search made by the Yachtsman for the Vision of Loveliness, and its Results.—III. The Vision of Loveliness having become a reality, at length, to the Yachtsman's intense delight, comes on board his Yacht.—IV. Cowes Regatta in 1866, and various circumstances connected with it.—V. A Pic-nic, and what happened to the principal People concerned, 221.

Fair, An Up-country, in Behar, India, 514

French Almanacks, The, for 1867, 597

French Aristocracy at Home, 82

G.

Ghosts, The, round Bismark's Couch. By Mrs. Bushby, 370

H.

Hebron, Notes of a Ride from, to Petra in the Spring of 1865, 140

Heiresses, The, of Ballybrena. A Yachtsman's Tale. By the Author of "The Six Yachtsmen." Chap. I. Introduces the Heiresses.—II. Introduces the Yachtsmen who have fallen in Love with the Heiresses, in which also are narrated some highly scandalous Stories.—III. Two fresh Pretenders to the Hands of the Heiresses introduced, and the mode described by which they hoped to gain their Object.—IV. The Heiresses' Guardian exhibits himself in glowing Colours, and a new Admirer appears on the Stage.—V. The Suitors' Plots and Treachery.—The Heiresses undertake a rash Expedition, and find themselves in a fearful Predicament.—VI. The Yachtsmen, by a wonderful Coincidence, hear of the Danger to which the Heiresses are exposed, and hasten to their Rescue.—VII. A Fenian Expedition interrupted, and the Adventures of the Heiresses and the Yachtsmen brought to a happy conclusion, 111

Home, French Aristocracy at, 82

Home, Waterton's, 263

How Saint Anders won the "Hoax." A Legend of Jutland. By William Jones, 316.

I.

India. An Up-country Fair in Behar, 514

J.

Jacox, Francis. Cues from Shakspeare, by, 57, 172, 287, 388, 502. Mr. Gradgrind. Typically considered, by, 613

Jones, William. The Lost Deeds, by, 65. Canute the Dane, by, 180. How Saint Anders won the "Hoax," by, 316. Sir Roland, by, 393.

Charlemagne and the Bishop, by, 521. Take Time by the Forelock, by, 621
Jordan, the, A Fortnight's Ride East of, 68
Journal of an Aide-de-Camp, 394, 522, 646
Jutland, A Legend of. By William Jones, 316
Jutland, A Tradition of. By William Jones, 65

L.

Legend, A, of Jutland. By William Jones, 316
Little Talbot the Great. A Cue from Shakspeare. By Francis Jacox, 287
Lost Deeds, The. By William Jones, 65

M.

Marryat, Blanche. Briars and Thorns, by. Chap. XVII. to XIX., 33. Part II. Chap. I. to III., 149.—IV. to VI., 297.—VII. and VIII., 423.—IX. to XII., 529.—XIII. to XV., 632
Mr. Gradgrind. Typically considered. By Francis Jacox, 613
Münster, Mrs. Alfred M. Thrown Away, by. Chap. IX. and X., 72.—XI. and XII., 149.—XIII. and XIV., 272.—XV. and XVI., 372.—XVII. and XVIII., 494
Mushrooms, 412

N.

Notes of a Ride from Hebron to Petra in the Spring of 1865, 140

O.

Old Court. A Novel. By W. Harrison Ainsworth. Prologue. The Brothers.—Chap. I. Captain Chetwynd.—II. The Meeting in Aylesford Churchyard.—III. What passed between Captain Chetwynd and his old Groom.—IV. Amice.—V. Presentiments of Ill.—VI. Kit's Coity House.—VII. How the two Rogues were caught in a Trap, 331.—VIII. What became of the two Rogues.—IX. The Vow.—Book the First. Lucetta and her Lovers.—Chap. I. In which Lucetta receives two Offers.—II. A third Offer.—III. Osbert Leigh.—IV. A poor Gentleman.—V. The Visit to Old Court, 441.—VI. Introduces Mr. Vandeleur La Hogue.—VII. The Picture in the Closet.—Book the Second. How Sir Hugh succeeded in his Errand.—Chap. I. The Contents of the Casket.—II. How further Information was obtained at Dover.—III. The Rencounter at Red-hill.—IV. How Sir Hugh and his Friend were stopped on the West Cliff, and whom they beheld during the stoppage.—V. The Grave in Portslade Churchyard.—VI. Father and Daughter, 551

P.

Petra, Notes of a Ride from Hebron to, 140

R.

Ride, A Fortnight's, East of Jordan, 68
Ride from Hebron to Petra, 140
Roland, Sir. By William Jones, 393
Rough, A, Tramp over the Rocky Mountains. By Barrington Beaver, 476, 622
Royal Academy's Exhibition, The. By T. Frederick Wedmore, 28
Ruins of Beejapore, A Visit to, 381

S.

Shakspeare, Cues from. By Francis Jacox, 57, 172, 287, 388, 502
Sketches of Sunny Scenes and Social Science in Switzerland, 193, 319
Snow, The, 501
Sir Roland. By William Jones, 393
Six Yachtsmen, The, 1

T.

Take Time by the Forelock. By William Jones, 621
Tauromachia, 363
The Snow, 501
Thrown Away. By Mrs. Alfred M. Münster. Chap. IX. Laura's Reception at Home.—X. Golden Days, 72.—XI. Benedict, the Married Man.—XII. The Beginning of Disenchantment, 181.—XIII. The Fair One with the Golden Locks.—XIV. An old Friend, 272.—XV. Transient Sunshine.—XVI. A new Star appears on the Horizon, 372.—XVII.

"Master and Man."—XVIII. What various People said in Private, 494

U.

Up-Country, An, Fair in Behar, India, 514

V.

Visit, A, to the Ruins of Beejapore, 381

W.

Watercresses, 485
Waterton's Home, 263
Wedmore, T. Frederick. The Royal Academy's Exhibition, by, 28
Wines and Wine-shops in the Seventeenth Century, 404

Y.

Yachting Tale, A, of August, 1866. The Fair Unknown, 221
Yachtsman's Tale, A. The Heiresses of Ballybrena, 111
Yachtsmen, The Six, 1

END OF THE SIXTIETH VOLUME.

LONDON
PRINTED BY C. WHITING, BEAUFORT HOUSE, STRAND.